READ THIS FIRST — HOW POINTS WORK IN THIS GAME

Before the rules, understand what every Art Attack player is playing for. HAH Season 9 runs on THREE kinds of points — every point is recorded against the player's HC9 ID and shows on their Player Report Card on the championship website.

| # | Points Type               | How You Earn It                                                                                                                                                               | Points            |
|---|---------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|
| 1 | Skill Points — Art Attack | Win this event — the category winner earns the full skill score; runners-up and finalists earn scaled points down the bracket.Points Awarded to City / Zone Leader | 50 points         |
| 2 | Winning Points            | Finish in the Top 4 of this event — fixed points by final position (see breakup below).Points Awarded to Player                                                    | 50 / 30 / 20 / 10 |

Winning Points — position-wise breakup (same in every game):

| Winner (1st) | Runner-Up (2nd) | 3rd Place | 4th Place |
|--------------|-----------------|-----------|-----------|
| 50           | 30              | 20        | 10        |

Why Winning Points matter: Winning Points from every game are added up into the player's TOTAL score. This total is counted at the City level and the National level only — and it decides the Best Male HAH Champion and Best Female HAH Champion of the championship. The more you participate and win, the higher your total climbs.

This 3-point system is identical across all Season 9 games. City Leaders and Zone Leaders additionally earn credits for every registration they drive. Point values are subject to final approval by the HAH Organizing Committee.
